

200 cm metal workbench h286_71

Metal workbench h286_71 200x70xH90 cm in RAL 5010 blue steel with 43 mm wood top covered in sheet metal, 4 Art. 706 drawers and shelf.

The 200 cm metal workbench h286_71 is a monoblock workstation for industrial and professional contexts, designed for the structured management of work processes and the organized storage of tools. This technical furniture responds to the need for a resistant operating surface that prevents material from falling and allows the organization of small parts and equipment in compartments protected by a key, offering the preparation for mounting vices and shelves. Aimed at maintenance technicians, technicians, artisans, and production department managers, the bench features a robust steel angular structure subjected to oven-baked powder coating in the standard RAL 5010 blue color. The upper top consists of a 43 mm thick wood panel covered in sheet metal, equipped with 20 mm high perimeter edges on three sides, and is integrated by a lower sheet metal shelf also provided with edges. The structure has overall dimensions of 200 cm in width, 70 cm in depth, and 90 cm in height. The organization of the components includes 4 Art. 706 metal drawers sliding on nylon-covered ball bearing guides, complete with end-of-travel stop and lock closure.
