

Stainless steel cured meat rack with hooks h750_12

AISI 304 stainless steel cured meat display rack with hooks, 1480x680x2000 mm. Hygienic and organized solution for product display.

The cured meat display rack is the ideal equipment for presenting products in an orderly and hygienic manner, ensuring both visual appeal and compliance with health regulations. Structured with hooks that can be positioned at different heights, it allows for flexible management of the display space. The construction in AISI 304 stainless steel ensures suitability for direct contact with food, facilitates quick cleaning of the structure, and maintains over time the essential hygienic properties for environments where food safety is critical.

Technical features

- Structure in AISI 304 stainless steel
- Hooks for display and storage of cured meats, positionable in multiple locations
- Dimensions: Length 1480 mm × Depth 680 mm × Height 2000 mm
- Suitable for butcher shops, slaughterhouses, cured meat factories, and food processing contexts

Image for illustrative purposes only

INFORMATION

