

Tray collection bin for fast food h684_149

Design tray and waste collection module in laminated wood. Versatile and customizable solution for fast food, integrable into recycling islands.

The tray collection bin h684_149 redefines the concept of waste management by transforming it into a design experience. This module has been designed to solve the problem of visual clutter typical of clearing areas, offering an elegant solution that is easily integrated into any architectural context. Its dual nature allows for the management of both waste disposal and the orderly return of trays in a single point, optimizing workflows and available space.

Made of high-quality laminated wood, the structure is extremely solid and available in various colors to adapt to the venue's visual identity. The module is designed for the professional target of the fast food and quick-service restaurant sector, but its versatility also makes it perfect for corporate canteens and food court areas. Thanks to the modular nature of the system, the unit can be placed alongside models h684_144, h684_145, or h684_146 to configure complete, functional, and coordinated recycling islands. Upon request, the product can be customized with logos, specific labels, and structural plinths.
